Successful lighting design enhances architecture and helps create memorable, fascinating spaces. The process draws upon not only imagination and creativity, but also engagement with architectural development, underpinned by technical rigour. The result can mean the difference between experiencing a space or building at face value, and unveiling the hidden personality.

If you are serious about lighting design then take this opportunity to meet a leading industry professional.

In House Group 3 is proud to host Sydney's lighting design expert, Point Of View, with Practice Director, David Becker, and Design Manager, Mark Elliott.

Join us as they discuss the value of independent lighting design advice, and teach us how to Paint with Light.
